

How do I set up my workstation to illuminate the yellow notes pushpin icon when a note exists?

(Updated 5-07)

The Problem:

The Macola software offers a handy feature of keying in notes for many data fields. After you key in a note, the notes icon changes from a white tablet to a yellow pushpin.

Unless the following change is made, you will not be able to tell if someone keyed in a note or not because the icons will always be yellow. If all of your Macola notes icons are currently yellow pushpins, you will need to make the following simple changes to your individual workstation.

The Solution:

The following simple change will ensure that the white icon is displayed when there are no notes and the yellow icon when notes are present:

- Using the Windows Explorer software, locate the “Macola7.INI “ file within the C:\WINNT folder.
- Using your right mouse button, click on the file name and choose the “open” option.
- Add the following new line “Check-for-notes=Yes” at the end of the [Windows-Info] section. See the example below.
- Click on the “File” menu at the top and save the change that you made.
- To test the change, re-open the Macola software and go the customer file maintain program. You should now see white tablet icons next to many data fields. Key in a note for a customer and save it. The icon should now change to a yellow pushpin.
